JUNE 18th 1999

JUNE 18 1999 is when the G8 summit of the richest states meets in Koln, Germany, to forward the interests of global capitalism. It is also the time when people across the globe will come together to challenge the root of our social oppression and the destruction of the environment - global capitalism.

June 18 will see actions world-wide in financial centres, banking districts and at multinationals offices - including in the City of London.

Environmentalists, workers, the unemployed, indigenous peoples, peasants' groups, women's networks, the landless and many more will act together against the exploitation of people and the planet for the profit of a few.

ACTION ACROSS INDIA

DIRECT ACTION by groups like subsistence farmers, fisherfolk, sweat-shop workers, women's groups and villagers is sweeping India. Their targets are the multinationals, the World Trade Organisation, the International Monetary Fund and the World Bank - and the Indian authorities.

Structural adjustment and neo-liberal reform have made the rich richer and the poor poorer. Hundreds of desperate peasant farmers have committed suicide.

Struggles include

- A fishing union strike, with harbour blockades against industrial over-fishing
- A Cremate Monsanto action last November when genetically modified crops were burned
- Farmers India-wide forming collective seed banks to resist the multinationals patenting seeds, forcing peasants to buy from them

- Opposition to patenting seeds and plants has twice stopped the Patent Amendment Act being passed
- In January the National Alliance of Peoples Movements protested in Multai, Madhya Pradesh against police killing 24 peasant farmers
- Direct action against building dams which submerge villages. Thousands, mainly women, have invaded the construction site of the Maheshwar dam. Women, often at the forefront of direct action in India, have faced beatings, arrests and

CLOSE THE PRISONS OPEN THE BORDERS

MUCH MILEAGE has been made about "illegal" immigrants being "economic migrants" rather than true "asylum seekers". Immigration officials have the power to decide who is a "genuine immigrant". Apart from the sheer arrogance of anyone telling you where and when you can live, and the myth that political borders exist to protect the citizens within them - the whole idea of "immigrants" is a con of modern global capitalist economics and old expansionist colonialism.

In the UK refugees face having their already reduced rights diminished even further. After the Inquiry into the racist murder of Stephen Lawrence the government have been promising

gang rape by police.

200 grass roots organisations formed the National Alliance of Peoples Movements in 1993, and 55 farm and labourers unions created the Joint Forum of Indian People Against Globalisation in 1998.

TIED TO A TREE

One very active group is the 10 million-strong Karnataka State Farmers Association (KRSS). Although they do contest elections, and can be criticised for including some larger farmers who employ land labourers, KRSS carry out very positive activities such as :

action against institutional racism. Hypocrites! New Labour legislation includes:

- forcing refugees to live in particular areas
- ending appeals against deportation for those in Britain over 7 years
- giving the immigration service police powers
- extending immigration detention
- more internal immigration controls
- withdrawing benefits and substituting vouchers. And all this for people facing deportation to danger and repression!

500 PEOPLE from India, Bangladesh and South America are organising activities throughout Europe in the run-up to the June 18 actions.

This Intercontinental Caravan, co-ordinated through Peoples Global Action, has participants from India - the BKU Peasants Union in 10 states, anti nuclear activists, indigenous people, landless, people resisting the Narmada dam - plus the MST landless movement (Brazil), Mothers of the Disappeared (Argentina), and the womens peasant movement from Bangladesh. Half the Caravan are in London from 27 - 30 May.

The Indian participants state that the current global crisis provides "a unique opportunity for people to reclaim their future, to disobey the institutions that run the current, self-destructive system of global economic, political and military governance, and to take their own power in their hands in order to construct a different world."

Our resistance is as transnational as capital

- Forbidding government officials to enter villages without their permission - many officials who ignored this ban were tied to a tree
- 1000 activists occupied the Cargill company office in Bangalore, making a bonfire of the equipment
- Using iron bars to physically dismantle one of Cargill's seed units
- Occupying Kentucky Fried Chicken and destroying the equipment
- A mass gathering outside the Karnataka state government when the entire crowd laughed all day at the government's policies

Uprooting environmentally-unfriendly Eucalyptus seedlings and replacing them with local trees - they successfully stopped a national eucalyptus planting programme

- Challenging patriarchy. Women have their own structures and mobilisations within KRSS, organise women's rallies, present their own demands etc

Ultimately KRSS want the "Village Republic", based on direct democracy, with all participating in decision-making, and affairs affecting several communities decided by all communities affected.

Millions for Mumia

THE WORLD-WIDE movement to save framed US activist Mumia Abu-Jamal from execution is growing.

Two Millions for Mumia mobilisations are planned for 24 April, in his home town Philadelphia and in San Francisco, to demand a new trial. In Britain solidarity action has been taken in Edinburgh, London, Manchester, etc..

Mumia has campaigned tirelessly against racism and oppression since joining the Black Panther Party at the age of 14. He has been on death row for 16 years since being framed for the murder of a policeman after a rigged trial.

On 29 October he was refused the right to have an appeal heard. This means Pennsylvania governor Tom Ridge could now sign the death warrant setting an execution date.

We Shell Not Be Moved

OIL GIANT Royal Dutch / Shell, backers of the military crackdown in Nigeria's Niger-Delta responsible for over 200 deaths in the recent weeks, was host to some unwelcome first-footers on 4 Jan. 13 protestors seized 2 senior management offices and the corporate library of the London premises, Shell-Mex House, while on nearby Waterloo bridge a banner read "Shell: Filthy Theiving Murderers - It's Time to Go" and hourly updates of proceedings appeared on the web. The activists repeated the demands of the Ijaw people - whose actions, at times, have cut Nigeria's oil output by over a third - that Shell pull out of the Delta by Jan 11 and end all oil exploration. The occupation was evicted by the TSG riot police but all 13 were released without charge following their arrests. The next day the invaders returned to leaflet Shell employees.

THE FLAG WITH THE HOLE

ON 18 & 21st January 15,000 Romanian miners, who had marched 90 miles towards Bucharest in protest at pit closures and low wages, clashed with police who used helicopters and tear gas. Locals joined forces with the miners who had national flags with symbolic holes. An agreement was reached with the government & the march called off as the strikewave spread. On 15.2.99 a miners leader was jailed for 18 years.

SATURDAY MOTHERS

SINCE 1995, the relatives of the 1000's of people who have "disappeared" in the brutal repression of Kurdish and Turkish opposition groups have been holding weekly vigils in Istanbul. In recent months, while the disappearances continue, the peaceful protests of the "Saturday Mothers" have been attacked by the British-trained police, with harassment and mass arrests. Turkish and Kurdish community centres in London have suffered increasing police harassment and the new "Terrorism and Conspiracy" Act may criminalise political campaigning by the exiled communities. Vigils in support of the "Saturday Mothers" are held outside Wood Green library every 2nd Sat. of the month from 2.30-4pm. International Committee Against Disappearances, ICAD (British Section), PO Box 8446, London N17 6NZ.

AXMED NOT FORGOTTEN

100s OF people marched in Edinburgh to mark the 10th anniversary of the racist murder of Axmed Abukar Sheekh, a Somali refugee, who was stabbed in the city's Cowgate by a gang of racist thugs. Only one of the accused spent a paltry 21 months in jail.

NOTICE TO QUITO

5 CONSECUTIVE days of demonstrations throughout Ecuador have shown strong opposition to the government's economic policies. Students clashed with police at the Central University of Quito on 14 Jan. * PEASANTS & WORKERS SEE RED POLICE KILLED one protestor & injured 100 as 3000 peasants demonstrated in the Chinese province of Daolin Hunan against rises in local taxes & corruption in the bureaucracy. (Umanita Nova * 31.1.99) On Oct 21, 100s of workers from the state-owned Peijiang iron and steel factory in Jiangyou, Sichuan Province clashed with over a 100 police while protesting over unpaid wages. 500 had occupied a station on the Baocheng railway line disrupting trains for 4 hours. Thousands of villagers facing relocation in a DAM project from the River Yangze in China to militarised slave labour are threatening violence & resistance if their petitions go unheard.

LAND AND FREEDOM

2000 LANDLESS workers have occupied the Bacuri estate, near Belem in Brazil. The occupation, organised through the Movimento Sem Terra, aims to force the government to sign over the land to the workers. Meanwhile, Sem Terra launched an appeal in December for international solidarity far political prisoners in Brazil on hunger strike. # REAL POWER FROM BELOW !

Devolved assemblies & parliaments, with varying political power, are being set up for Northern Ireland, London, Wales & Scotland. On 6th May elections to the Scottish parliament and Welsh assembly will be held.

It is too easy for radicals to adopt 'I told you so' attitude and emphasise the global forces without any local presence to back their arguments up. Assent for a Scottish Parliament was overwhelming and draws on a cultural identity, that despite being distorted, expresses real aspirations. These are mainly expressed in a need to participate in a civic sense and take responsibility for the world we live in. There is a consensus that what passes for local and national government is bankrupt, as it reinforces a sense of social exclusion from decision-making.

These aspirations are interpreted by politicians to suit their own agendas. They supposedly 'represent' electorates & the public mood. In reality, with few exceptions, they subordinate this role to a career within the political system. Parties aim to win power through being electorally acceptable. They therefore exist to manipulate popular aspirations within the 'pragmatic' reality of the world-as-we-know-it. In Scotland the radical opposition to so-called 'Thatcherism' in the '80s, has not been totally blown away by 'New Labour's' audacious pro-capitalist policies.

BRAVE NEW WORLD

Much of the distrust of Tony's 'brave new world' is expressed in support for the S.N.P. or in 'maverick' old style Labourism for personalities like Dennis Canavan. However, many Scots see beyond the 'trust in us to provide' from above attitude of Labour & the Unions. New means to channel such aspirations are already being created through the Scottish Civic Forum, intended to exist 'below' the Parliament in order to clamour for participation & accountability. This development mirrors past movements in 'enlightened' nationalism [Slovenia, Estonia etc.]. A leftist alternative to Labour, comes from previously fragmented support for the Scottish Socialist Party, seeking to utilise the new proportional 'Party list' 2nd vote, with a mandate to pressurise the Parliament to 'save jobs'. But in truth both these developments are a denial of global economic reality.

Devolution is part of a move towards a 'Europe of the Regions'. This illustrates the system's need for new political legitimacy at a governmental level far below European Community, the G8 group of 'rich nations' and the economic leverage of multinationals in a global economy. Such 'empowerment' is an illusion unless it links with global anti-capitalist resistance. The examples of southern India & Chiapas in Mexico, and the direct action and solidarity worldwide gives us a glimpse of 'self-determination' not led into a 'national' & parliamentary cul-de-sac !

G-REED GUBBED

OFFICES of recruitment agency Reed have been plastered with posters denouncing their profiteering participation in running the New Deal in London. 23-25 October saw giant GREED posters cover 15-20 London offices plus Brighton, Edinburgh, Manchester and Sheffield offices. Just before Xmas Brighton Reeds was occupied by protesting claimants.

Now government legislation aims to introduce compulsory jobseeking interviews for many disabled and single parent claimants plus other cuts. Brighton residents showed their opposition when a visit by Employment Service Chief Executive Leigh Lewis was disrupted by 30 demonstrators. As protesters moved to accompany Mr Lewis into West Street Job Centre for constructive discussions, cops assaulted and arrested people.

WORKERS GIVE ETT LALDY

ALL ROUND the Spanish State people are resisting the exploiting temporary job agencies - known as ETTs. Flyposting, glued locks, occupations and molotovs have hit many ETTs since December.

ETT jobs have very low wages, no employment rights, no Unions, no sick pay, no holidays....Now the anarcho syndicalist CNT and other collectives are fighting back.

On 18 December CNT Valencia and others occupied a local ETT, emptying rubbish containers all over the office. Police repression has followed - CNT members were remanded in custody for a month and face possible prison sentences.

SHELTER FOR ALL

THE Ontario Coalition Against Poverty have occupied an empty Toronto hospital to demand homeless shelters, picketed the home of a welfare manager who threatened a family with eviction, successfully defended the right of homeless people to sleep in a park (occupying the park all night despite being outnumbered by cops), and organized a huge march which thwarted a planned bill to outlaw squeegee youth and beggars. Most local businesses have been scared out of involvement in work-fare. The 10 Feb. Day of Action against homelessness saw riot police confront 250 demonstrators at the Canadian Parliament in Ottawa while 50 people occupied Revenue Canada offices in Vancouver. ## NO MEAN FIAT

WORKERS at Fiat, Turin struck in November and December against layoffs, increases in over-time, worsening conditions and holiday cuts. The Italian car plant, is once more seeing a presence of workers self-organisation through grass-roots unions.

BULLIES ON THE WEB

As we go to press legal action is being threatened by the Employment Service over Edinburgh Claimants web site - apparently due to the 3 Strikes activity of naming and photographing bullying Edinburgh dole officials like Marianne MacDonald and Alastair Mathieson.

Children of the Revolution

THE last few months have seen strikes and demonstrations by school students in France, Greece and Italy. On 15 October 20,000 students demonstrated in Paris during a national day of action which ended in riots, with students overturning vehicles and setting light to shops. Hundreds of thousands marched throughout France. The students were demonstrating against an over-centralised school system which has seen thousands of children without subject teachers and in massive classes.

A few weeks later, unpopular education reforms in Greece saw strikes and violent clashes with police by Greek school students, teachers and parents. Inspired by the struggles in France, protests spread across the country, with school occupations becoming the standard method of protest. By Christmas over half the schools in Greece were occupied.

Arrogant Greek Education Minister Arsenis refused to listen to students' concerns. There were spectacular demonstrations on 15 and 21 January, with tens of thousands in the streets in Athens, Salonika, Patras etc.. Students also perfected their road blocking techniques, causing daily collapse in the country's already overcharged road system.

Now barricades are in place at most state schools. The struggle is being described as the "children's revolution".

In Italy strikes, demonstrations and occupations are opposing a proposal to give private Catholic schools the same access to public funding as state schools. This would cut the resources available for state education, and also increase the power of the Church over the young. In late November many schools in Milan were occupied and being run in a self-managed way.

WORLD WITHOUT BORDERS

BORDERS BOOKSTORE who have recently opened stores in central London, Glasgow and Melbourne are the target of a worldwide campaign by the Industrial Workers of the World Union.

Borders are well known in the USA for their anti-union activity and harassment of staff who attempt to unionise shops. Their protest attracts diverse support from the likes of Noam Chomsky, Philadelphia City Council and the US National Writers' Union all of whom have attacked Borders' behaviour towards unions.

Borders issue their managers with a Union Awareness Training Manual which includes headings such as 'What Can Be Done to Avoid Unionization in My Store?' and 'Recognizing the Early Signs of Union Activity'. The manual can be viewed at the Borders Cyberpicket website

A HOT WINTER

IN France the unemployed are fighting for total reform of the benefits system, with benefits for under 25s and a guaranteed minimum income.

50 towns have seen actions, including collective expropriations - taking goods free - in supermarkets.

20,000 marched in Marseilles on 3 December. Occupations of Socialist Party, employers association and benefit offices followed. Marseilles council was forced to grant 10,000 emergency payments.

Hundreds occupied the AXA insurance company HQ and the Stock Exchange Commission in Paris on the 21 December National Day of Action.

In Nancy the unemployed held a successful 12 hour blockade on 26 December to support striking bus workers, formulating joint demands for new permanent jobs and free travel for the unemployed and low paid temporary workers.

WORKERS SOLIDARITY

Library Workers Dispute

IN January Glasgow Council workers voted to increase their UNISON union subscriptions to sustain the two-year library workers dispute over cuts in their conditions and working hours. However, the Labour Controlled Council is refusing to collect the increased subscriptions.

In a second blow National Unison persuaded the local branch to re-ballot the library workers over the latest, and no better, management offer. Workers were shocked when, without any campaign for a yes vote, the ballot paper also asked if they were prepared to take all out indefinite strike action. A letter from national Union official Smith undermining the present action accompanied the ballot paper. The local branch has managed to abort this, and a new ballot will be run.

Is it any surprise that the attempts to undermine industrial action come in the run up to the Scottish Parliament Elections in May?

"We're all part of the Union..?"

IT was a cold & damp[dreich] morning, but February 2nd was different. 30 pickets huddled on a pavement, the Glasgow City Unison banner propped up against a wall. The pickets are drawn from the thousands of Glasgow social work staff who walked out on illegal strike [see C151] last August. The effects of the strike which ended after the Labour Council used Tory legal powers to obtain an interdict, are still being felt.

The picket comes to life. Matt Smith, A Unison regional officer is flanked by two police. But far from coming in solidarity, Smith is being protected from his own irate members. The Union hierarchy are investigating 'strike leaders' such as Roddy Slorach, vilified in the press for daily strike mass meetings. Smith, and General Secretary Bickerstaffe are attempting to marginalise 'militant' activists from a discontented workforce. They are puppets of the ruling class.

Hillingdon Victory

21 STRIKERS at Hillingdon Hospital, Middlesex have won their 3-year fight, after an industrial tribunal ruled that they should be reinstated and given compensation. The strike began after private contractor Pall Mall won the contract to provide domestic services to the hospital and imposed a 20% pay cut and reductions in holidays and sick pay. Despite losing strike pay from their union, Unison, which urged them to settle the 'unwinnable' dispute, the women fought on and, in October, were rewarded with £11,300 compensation and their jobs back. The struggle isn't over, however, as Granada Healthcare Services, which took over the contract, is refusing to reinstate the women and is appealing against the tribunal's decision. ### NEW DEAL = NAE DEAL

I CLAIM Job Seekers Allowance. I was asked to attend a New Deal interview on my usual signing on day. I was sent a letter telling me to go to the second floor (Torphichen St. bru, Edinburgh) to be interviewed by my New Deal adviser, Louise Curnyn.

I ignored the letter and went to my usual signing on point on the first floor. There, I was told of the interview. I asked if it was compulsory, the claimant adviser lied to me and said it was compulsory for the over-twentyfives if they'd been signing on for more than two years.

I had to attend the interview as I would be signed on there. Before Ms. Curnyn could launch into her spiel I informed her that New Deal wasn't compulsory for the over-twentyfives and I just wanted to sign on. She got flustered and asked me if I knew what it was about. I told her I wasn't interested but if it was compulsory I would do it and if not I wouldn't. I also informed her that I'd completed my Jobseeker's Agreement for that week and only wanted my giro.

BATTERED

She exploded- she battered her hand off the computer monitor and said "Two jobs- you've only applied for two jobs- ever!" I told her I didn't want to talk to her and demanded she get me the manager. She stormed off.

The assistant manageress came over and asked if I would accompany her into her office. I agreed. She brought over my signing on book. She informed me that New Deal was not compulsory for the over-twenty fives. I told her I knew that and complained about my treatment by my lying claimant advisor and the angry Louise Curnyn.

The assistant manageress tried to reassure me that New Deal was a good thing and nothing like Project Work (last year's joke!). She then focused on my Jobseeker's Agreement and asked if I thought it was still valid. She even suggested that I might benefit from a computer course at Lauder college- the Jobplan Workshop college!

It was beginning to remind me of a restart interview so I stopped her and asked to sign on, stating that I'd completed my Jobseeker's Agreement for that week. She let me sign on and as I was walking out she said that New Deal may become compulsory later in the year- can't wait.

No Mine, No Yours

SCOTTISH COAL have submitted planning applications to extract a total of 18m tonnes of coal from open cast sites at Broken Cross Muir and Glentaggart, of 504 & 1300 hectares respectively, both in South Lanarkshire, already home to the massive 1028 hectare Dalquhady mine.

On the barricades

ON 8 February supporters of the squatted 121 Centre in Brixton, London barricaded Railton Road to resist eviction and the "yuppification" of their neighbourhood. The police were short-handed against 80+ demonstrators, huge puppets, a sound system and local support. That same day squatters stormed the town hall, emptying the files of Council leader Jim Dickson.

Since 1981 the 121 has been used as an anarchist centre for info, advice, food and events. The eviction of 121 is part of a larger attempt by Lambeth Council and property developers to gentrify Brixton, making it "safe" for the middle class and tourists. Squats have been evicted, rents/house prices have skyrocketed, pushing people out of the area, and many community services face closure.

121 says: "If people get together and stand up for ourselves we can force them to back down... all the spaces we use - from pubs to street corners to community centres - are under attack. Despite big differences, as people we have a lot in common and the power to make life hard for the authorities who want to run our lives."
