STILL IT GROWS

Ship Workers Join I. W. W.

Freeman, sailors and cooks of the Transportation Workers Federation yesterday went to the offices of the American Railway Union and presented a document on the question of affiliation with the Industrial Union. The result was in favor of the proposal. Some union leaders now declare that preparations will be made for a strike of the eastern shipbuilding workers from "The Big World."

MARCH ON DENVER!

Special to Railway News

The appeal for fighters in Denver was answered by twenty-five hundred men for that place. At the present writing, April 9, we are 380 miles on our way. We have had very little opposition so far. 8 hours in jail in a small town, got quite good concussions for a rest — Press Committees with Fighters.

STRIKE AT FOWAY

One victory for the I. W. W.

The strike at Foway, Conn., brought about by Mr. Redwood Landor and scored in the third striker; all the men are working and the Company is all alone. Now, you unorganized hucksters, who don’t wake you up and see the I. W. W. people before they pass your gates!

This is a UNION strike and NOT UNION MEN NEED APPLY FOR WORK HERE AT FOWAY

A. NO. ONE

NOTICE

Send all funds, clothing and provisions for our men to Mrs. F. Stevenson, Box 104, Merrick, La. Be sure to remit your funds. Back help! The strike will win.

I. W. W. STRIKE COMITTEE.
The waiting room for the men is about 15 feet thick where they sleep. I saw them. They are two kip lihly sights, but they are all right, I think. I went to see them because I wanted to see what life was like inside a certain geographical area. They believe these laws are made in Washington, D.C. by millionaires and city slickers. But, from experience we know that the law is the law and the command of a master to a slave.

Another instance, Monday, the 7th, the following day, I received a ticket charging me for being on the S. & S. Victoria of Giorgio. We had already landed at 10:30 a.m., and finished about 7:30 p.m. I had gone to pay many who went to pay at the office, or who were not at all to pay, and I saw no master or slave, no matter how small. When we arrived there, we found that it was a man who had worked the after part of the S. & S. Cuba, that was raised up before. After he had finished paying the S. & S. Cuba off, the negroes told us it was a good way to work. I do not think there is any worse work throughout the country.

I collected $20.00 for our best attention and service.

The I. W. W. Preamble

The working class and the employing class have nothing in common. Their interests are fundamentally opposed. The working class can only be freed from this grasp by radical change of all social relations, the establishment of the working class free association by the working class itself. We abhor absolute authority on the part of the employer—wage-labor, and base wage-labor on a dignity which is the same as that of any other trade. The working class has nothing to gain by remaining within the framework of capitalist production, and can gain nothing but what it first gains by a radical change of social relations. The working class can only be freed from this grasp by radical change of all social relations, the establishment of the working class free association by the working class itself.

The I. W. W. Preamble

To All Members.

Every one who can should do something for the strike. Every one who has any money should lend it, and every one who has anything to spare should contribute it. The strike is to be conducted as a strike, to support the strikers in every way that is possible, and to pay the bills as they come in. The strike is to be conducted in such a way that the whole world will know what is going on. The strike is to be carried on with all the force that it can command, and the authorities will be held responsible for the result.

It is the duty of every man to work for the strike, and to do his part in the same way that he would do in any other undertaking. The strike is to be conducted on the principle that every man can be trusted to do his work well, and that every man will do his best to help the strike.
